PREFACE

With the blessings of LORD SHIVA the embodiment of OM, the root of existing and non-existing, I am presenting this humble book with the sole motive of reviving spiritualism.

First of all, I am thankful to all those readers who have appreciated my first book titled "Nakshatra Based Predictions including Remedial Measures - Part I" and my second book titled "Mystical Formulae - Part I -Mantras". I would not have ventured into this book but for the overwhelming support and enthusiasm expressed by the public on my two books mentioned above.

A doubt will arise in the mind of readers in regard to the utility and authenticity of Mantras and Yantras. This doubt is created out of ignorance. To disregard anything by labelling as "useless or rubbish or orthodox" without bringing into practical use is not the correct approach. Now the tendency is to prove everything scientifically i.e. no theory or formulae or invention is acceptable to the world unless it is proved scientifically.

I will narrate an interesting discussion taken place between two friends which I overheard when I was waiting for a bus. One friend mentioned that "now-a-days I am doing meditation and I have seen several supernatural beings during the course of meditation". His friend immediately shouted "what nonsense? you are waisting your valuable time". When the friend doing meditation went on arguing to establish the value of meditation, his friend asked him to prove it scientifically. He even made a bet of Rs.100 if it can be proved scientifically. Now the question is how to prove it scientifically? Experience vary from person to person. We all forget that the term" science" was in existence even before the Vedic period. The reason why I selected the point as Vedic period is because it is the pointer period which most of us are aware. The meaning of "Science" is "Shastra" and "Shastra" is the usually accepted synonym for any "System or Theory or Method" mainly due to the import of English Language. It would be better to rename the terms as "Old Scince" and "Modern Science".

I have experienced lot of "VIBRATIONS" during the course of writing and drawing of the Yantras and Mantas. Modern scientific man will stamp my experience as a Psychic case. I once again reiterate that I have experienced and felt the presence of the "Almighty". Then the question would be - what did I achieve? Whether I have derived certain supernatural powers etc.

EXPERIENCE

I started drawing various Yantras with effect from 20th December, 1991 at 10.15 PM) IST. Suddenly I started feeling that somebody is patting on my back as if acknowledging my work in "SABHASH" (well done). When I turned back I couldn't see any one. This experience continued for some days. After 5 or 6 days, when I tried to sleep, somebody started pulling my hair, nose and forehead. I thought that my wife is doing it as a joke. Alas! when I started shouting "don't do it, I am tired, let me take rest, don't disturb me, she came from the other room and asked me why are you shouting? Only then I realised that it was not she but somebody else. Imagine! There was no alternative but to get up and switch on the light out of fear. I again laid down with the light on. Again I was disturbed. I felt that somebody started pinching my back and other portion of the body as if to wake me up and asking me to do the job. I got up and started preparing the book. I could not sleep on that day. It continued for days and I have not slept for days. Ultimately I realised that I cannot sleep unless I complete the book. I heard several noises at night. By that time, I was completely accustomed to these noises. During the entire period of writing, I got some extra strength. I completed this book, except Preface and Contents, on 30.1.1991. at 8.30 AM and suddenly felt that somebody has moved away from my body with a jerk. Again I got the same vibration when I am typing this Preface (now)
i.e. 31.1.1991 at 10.30 AM.

What does it indicate? As for me, it is the indication of the superb power these YANTRAs possess. I feel completely a changed man now. It seems impossible to believe that I have not slept for 1 month and 11 days i.e. from the day I started drawing Yantras (not from the day I started writing) to the time completed drawing the Yantras. I don't feel pain but a kind of vibrations on my back right shoulder bone. There is a sound that of a motor. I don't know, how and why this has happened. But it is enough for me to know that these Yantras have some valuable significance which I have to explore.

The reason why I have explained all these are not with the purpose of getting any publicity of my name but to tell the world - look, anybody who wants peace must take shelter into our ancient mantras and yantras. These have the power to change the entire world. I have always had the feeling that the world would shortly be moving again towards spiritual side.

I can surely say that modern science has not achieved anything new. Whatever inventions have taken place is only a transformation from one shape to another. For example, the modern aeroplane. In olden days, Ravana used to travel in air with his Pushpaka Vimana which did not have any engine, but with his supernatural power attained through Mantras. Just imagine a vehicle without spending not even a single penny was in existence thousands of years back, whereas, the modern man call himself to be more advanced and invented aeroplanes and rockets by spending crores of rupees and that too with the help of several thousands of persons. What does it indicate? As for me, one spiritually advanced man is equal to thousands of persons taking recourse to modern science. Is it not true?

I can prove it by quoting another example. Our ancestors have with their spritual powers or with supernatural vision calculated the transit of various planets. Could our modern scientists negative it? We all prepare horoscopes with the use of Ephemeris. What is the basis of Ephemeris? Is it not based on the formulae given to us by our ancestors belonging to the spiritual world?

Still another example is the great BRAHMASTRA used in various wars fought in Mahabharata and Ramayana. Was it not with the power of Mantras? It is so mentioned that a BRAHMASTRA can be used only when all other ASTRAS (arrows) fail. A Brahmastra is capable of destroying the entire world. Today, we have invented Atom Bomb or Nitrogen Bomb or Nuclear weapons. What is the utility of these bombs. Is it not the same as that of Brahmastra? So in what respect we are more advanced than our ancestors? To conclude this argument, I may say that our ancestors were far more advanced than we the present generation. Some catastrophe or the use of Brahmastra might have destroyed most of the inhabitants of this world and the Mantra Science perished along with them. With the lapse of time, again man started his search for a System for his easy and enjoyable existence. Modern Science is the result of such search. Hence, transformation took place from one form to another. Hence, we have to name such transformation as "Modern Science".

I earnestly request the readers to put the yantras mentioned in this book into practical use and do please write to me when they have achieved the goal, so that I can continue my research so as to revitalise our lost energy and lead the world towards achieving peace and harmony.

For easy understanding of the numericals used in this book, I am giving below its equivalent in Roman numericals. Practitioners are advised to use the same script which are used in this yantras, while writing the Yantras or Mantras.

MAY GOD BE WITH YOU ALL

MYSTICAL FORMULAE

(PART II - YANTRAS)

Methods of writing Mantras on the Yantras and the method of preparing Yantras

Yantras are of various types viz. Numerical, Syllabical and Diagramatic. Numerical Yantras were in existence and is still in existence in almost all the religions of the world viz. Hindu, Jain, Muslim, Christian and Persian etc. This Universal existence of Numerical Yantras indicate the prime importance and its utility. Further, it confirms the authenticity and power the Yantras possess. Had it not been useful to the human race, it would have lost its track and faded from the annals.

NUMERICAL YANTRAS

Numerical Yantras can be written on paper or inscribed in specified metals or carved in the stones. Each number has its own significance. Hence, according to the requirement and for the fulfilment of one's desire, one can select a particular number. Significance, utility and importance of various numbers are as follows:-

First of all, decide the type of Numerical Yantra which one wants to make i.e. the numb (total of digits inside all the squares) of Yantra. Divide this number by 2. Subtract it from the number so divided. Write this number in the 8th square. Then again subtract 1 out of the number written in the 8th square and write down the answer in the 16th square. Again deduct 1 and write down in the 7th square, likewise subtract and write in 5th square 12th square etc. After all the columns as mentioned above have been filled in, fill up the squares 2,7,3,6,5,1,4,9 in the respective order.

Method and Principle of writing Numerical Yantras

The method and principle of writing Numerical Yantras are explained below with a model Yantra. Suppose we have selected a 16 square Yantra with 84 numbers -

1. Divide 84 by 2 = 42.
2. Deduct 1 out of 42 = 41. Place this number 41 in the 2nd square of a 16 square Yantra.
3. Deduct 1 out of 41 = 40. Place this number 40 in the 9th square.
4. Deduct 1 out of 40 = 39. Place this number 39 in the 16th or last square.
5. Deduct 1 out of 39 = 38. Place this number 38 in the 7th square.
6. Deduct 1 out of 38 = 37. Place this number 37 in the 8th square.
7. Deduct 1 out of 37 = 36. Place this number 36 in the 15th square.
8. Deduct 1 out of 36 = 35. Place this number 35 in the 10th square.
9. Deduct 1 out of 35 = 34. Place this number 34 in the 1st square.

10. Now you have filled only 8 squares. In the remaining squares, place the numbers 2,7,6,3,8,1,4,5 in the respective order. In other words place the above numbers in 3rd, 4th, 5th, 6th, 11th, 12th, 13th and 14th squares in the order indicated above.

Now a 16 square Yantra with 84 as destiny number will look like.

Ink for writing Yantras

Various ingredients are used in writing Yantras. Ashta gandha is the most commonly used ingredient; then comes Pancha gandha, Yaksha-Kardam.

Ashta means 8; gandha means perfume. Ink prepared out of mixing of eight ingredients are called Ashta gandha as far as the Yantra world is concerned. There are several perfumes available which can be used in the preparation of Ashta gandha. Few of the normally used combinations are mentioned below:

Combination No. 1.

1. Agara - (Alor wood).
2. Tagara - fragrant powder prepared from Tabernaemontana coronaria).
3. Gorochan - (a bright yellow orpiment prepared from the bile of cattle-usually employed in painting, dyeing and in marking the Tilaka on the forehead).
4. Kasturi - (There are two types of Kasturis) i) the perfume coming out of the naval of the musk deer; ii) the plant called Hibiscus Abelmoschus. Normally Kasturi eminated from the naval of musk deer is employed for this. The other one obtained from the tree can also be employed.
5. Chandan - (Sandal-wood).
6. Sindoor - (Vermilion - Sindoor is a powder made by grinding the fruit of Sindura tree (Grislea Tomentosa) Now-a-days Sindoor is prepared from the red sulphade of Mercury. Use the Sindoor of Sindura tree.
7. Lal Chandan - Red Sandal-wood.
8. Kapoor - (Camphor.)

All the above mentioned articles in equal proportion may be grinded together by adding water in required quantity so as to appear like ink.

Combination No. 2.

1. Kapoor
2. Kasturi
3. Kesar - (saffron coloured powder prepared by grinding the dried flowers of Kesar tree [Rottleria tinctoria, mimusops Elingi or Mesua ferrea or Asa foetida] - if this is not available use the filament of lotus or any other vegitables).

4. Gorochan
5. Sandharpha
6. Chandan
7. Geru (wheat)
8. Agar

Combination No. 3.

1. Kesar
2. Kasturi
3. Kapoor
4. Hingula (asafoetida)
5. Chandan
6. Red Chandan
7. Agar
8. Tagar.

Main ingredients of Pancha gandha - Panch means 5 and gandha means perfume -

1. Kesar
2. Kasturi
3. Kapoor
4. Chandan
5. Gorochan

Main ingredients of Yaksha kardam -

1. Chandan
2. Kesar
3. Kapoor
4. Agar
5. Tagar
6. Kasturi

7. Gorochan
8. Hingula
9. Retta Jani
10. Ambar (a kind of yellow fossil)
11. Sone-ka-bank (gold leaf)
12. Mirch (chillies)
13. Kakomu

Exact ink to be used has been mentioned against each Yantra. Method of preparation of ink is same for all types of ink i.e. grind all ingredients in equal proportion and mix in water, so as to appear like ink and keep the ink in a clean vessel.

Remember that used utencils should not be used for keeping the ink. Ink can be prepared in advance and kept dried. It would be better to use rose-water instead of water in the preparation of ink.

Pen to be used for writing the Yantras

There are specified laws in regard to the pen to be used. Pen can be made out of the branches of Anaar (pomigranate) or Chameli (Jasmine plant) or Gold. The length of the pen should be of 11 Angul (fingers) to 13 Angul. Remember that the minimum length should be of 11 Angul. If gold pen is used, see that the pen has not been used earlier. Normally pen means the nib plus the lengthy portion to hold it. Hence, the primary requirement is that the nib may be made out of any one out of these three and the holder may be made out of anything except iron or steel but the length should be as specified above. Also see that the pen does not break in between or the ink should not be finished before the completion of the required Yantra.

Now I will deal with the material on which the Yantras can be prepared.

Usual practice is to use BHOJ PATRA (the bark of the birch tree used in olden times to write on, before the invention of paper). This Patra should be neat, clean and not broken. Take one Angul bigger (both width and length) than the Yantra one wants to prepare. In case it is not possible to get BHOJ PATRA one can use ordinary paper also.

RULES FOR MAKING YANTRAS

One must thoroughly obtain and remember all the rules for preparing Yantra before the start of writing. Otherwise, there is every possibility of preparing wrong Yantra which may not give any results.

Suppose, while writing a Yantra, by mistake, one has omitted either number in the case of Numerical Yantra, or the important lines or letters of the Yantra or is wrongly written, one should not cut the earlier written matters or over-write the matter. If any error is committed while writing, it is better to throw the paper or Bhojpatra and take a fresh one. In the case of metals, wash the metals in milk and Chandan powder so as to purify the metal.

In a Numerical Yantra, the writer must carefully see each and every column. The smallest number should be written first. Then slowly go on writing the next number in ascending order. It may also be ensured that the numbers are written in the specified column only e.g. let us assume that the smallest number in a Yantra is 5. First we must write this number 5 in the respective Column. We all know that the next number is 6. Then write number 6 in the respective column etc.

Note - It is again reiterated that Yantra should be written strictly as mentioned above for the proper result. Usual human tendency is to fill up the 1st square then the 2nd square like that. This system should NOT be followed in Yantra. Write the number in the respective or specified column only. Therefore, one must, first be fully trained in writing Yantra. Thus one can practice by writing on a piece of paper several times with ordinary pen. When one has become perfect, then only he should write the real Yantra.

Rules to be observed during Yantra writing

Rules and restrictions to be observed throughout the period of Yantra writing have been specified in the respective Yantra. One should keep complete silence during such period. `Sukhaasan' is the best asan to be used during Yantra writing. Use writing board. While in the sitting position or in Sukhaasan, write the Yantra by keeping the writing pad above the knee level, as the portion below the naval is considered inauspicious.

While writing the Yantra lit various incences (Agarbati, Camphor etc.) and oil lamp. Each Yantra has to be written by facing the specified direction. This has been indicated against each Yantra. If there is no indication in a particular Yantra in regard to the direction to be faced while writing the Yantra, face East for wealth, property and comforts; North for the removal of all kinds of trouble, relief from disease etc; one must observe all the conditions and wear neat and clean cloth.

WONDERS OF YANTRA

From the time immemorial man has been seeking refuge in Yantras for his happy existence. So the Yantras were always looked upon with due reverence. It is the Universal practice among the Hindus to display yantras on the door of their business places. Usual such Yantras are 15 number, 34 number or 65 number. These Yantras are also displayed in the religious places. Simple showing of the specified Yantra will cure the sufferings of pregnant lady. Ladies haunted by an evil deity called ``DAAKINEE SHAAKINEE'' can be saved from the trouble by wearing a Yantra on the neck or keeping it on the head.

It was the practice in olden times to keep a Yantra alongwith an oil lamp on the foundation of a fort or palace. Now-a-days persons wear Yantras on the hands. Jainas worship various Yantras. This worship has become a routine rituals for them. This may be the prime secret of prosperity being enjoyed by the sect. In addition to material success self confidence is induced into the mind of the worshipper. Persons having faith in the Yantras fully enjoy the most auspicious and favourable results. Faith always increases one's own courage, self purification which ultimately leads to the soul purification.

HOW TO GET YANTRA PREPARED

Preparation of Yantra itself is an art. The writer of Yantra should be an expert in the science of Mantra, Yantra, Maths and should be a Brahmchari (person who has had no sex in his life), kindred and virtuous.

Note: There is a confusion in the word `Brahmachari'. If we take the literary meaning as well as the age old common belief, it means ``the person who has had never sex in his life''. Here I do not agree. God cannot be so unkind to the human race. Brahmachari of this order is very very difficult to find in this world. Even if somebody admits or declares that he is a Brahmachari there is no way to prove it.

As is known to everybody or believed by everybody when most of the gods and goddesses are married and no part of their super natural power has been lost by virtue of their marriage, how is it that such restriction be imposed upon His subjects. The only feeling that I have, is that the real meaning of ``Brahmachari'' has been lost somewhere in the history or some ancestors for the sake of their individual egoistic desires must have misguided their contemporaries, who further transmitted to the next generation.

No human life is complete without ``Grihasthaasram (order of a householder)''. As one of the prime requirement of the writer of Yantra is that he should be virtuous and `Grihasthaasram is also one of the segments of human virtues, complete ``Brahmacharyam throughout one's own life'' may not be the underlying intention.

However, I believe that one must keep brahmacharya during the period of writing the Yantra i.e. from the time of preparation of ink for writing the Yantra and upto the first puja of Yantra. Hence, I advice the readers also to adopt this. I have got the results by doing like this.

In case it is not possible to find out such learned and virtuous person as mentioned above, the user himself can prepare the Yantra in accordance with the rules mentioned for each Yantra. If user himself is preparing the Yantra, he must first read and understand various rules mentioned in this book before the commencement of writing of Yantra.

Don't keep the Yantra on the earth during or after writing. Utmost reverence should be given to the Yantra. Yantra must be kept in a neat golden or silver coloured cloth (if possible gold or silver or copper plate). If one has to go to a funeral place by wearing the Yantra, the wearer immediately on his return should purify it by putting on the smoke emanating from the incences.

PRACTICALS OF YANTRAS

1. विजय यन्त्र

Vijaya Yantra

This yantra is also known as ``Vardhamaan Pathaaka''. Actually, when we go deep into the meaning of the Mantra of this yantra it should have been called ``Vijaya Rama Yantra''. This mantra is to be written on Sunday. According to some authorities this yantra is to be written when ``kepusandiya'' star is rising. Install the yantra on a wooden platform covered with white cloth. Worship the yantra with oil lamp, incences etc. Recite the following mantra for 108 times:

Om Hreem Sreem Kleem Namah. Vijaya Mantra Raajyadhaarakasya Srddhim Vrddhim Jayam Sukham Saubhaghya Lakshmee Mama Siddhi Kuru Do Swaha.

While reciting the Mantra, offer oblation of ``Panchaamrtam'' to the fire. It is so said that there are 9 departments of this yantra and each department has 2 separate yantras, which are described below:

Offer Nivedya consisting of rice, pure ghee, kesar, banana, coconut and coins (fire oblation). Sit before the yantra and recite the above mentioned Mantra for 12500 times. Complete the recitation within 5 to 8 days. Daily recitation should be in equal number everyday. Sleep on the floor and observe Brahmacharya. Do not change the place of installation as also the place of recitation. The day recitation is completed, take handful of rice from the firepit and keep below the pillow. Garland the yantra with flower mala (rosary). Auspicious events will appear through dream and there will be increase of wealth day-by-day. All your desires will be fulfilled.
